ROLLO WALTER BROWN TO BE ON CAMPUS FEBRUARY 29th

Mr. Rollo Walter Brown will be on the campus Tuesday, February 29th to address the student body at the weekly assembly. His topic for the address will be "A World We Can Create." Mr. Brown's talk should be a live one in that he is a clear and lively speaker, more interested in getting people to think for themselves than in impressing them to his own point of view. He has been called the most individual of American individualists. This, he says, is because he simply insists on being human, and believes that every other human being in like manner ought to have opportunity to be as much of himself as possible.

LITTLE GALLERY DISPLAYS "WHAT IS GOOD DESIGN"

By PAT SCHULTZ
February 24 opened an exhibition of useful household objects called "What is Good Design?" in the Little Art Gallery on second floor of Main Building. The show was assembled and is being circulated by New York's Museum of Modern Art. The exhibition arrived early and was assembled before school hours on Saturday of last week. It is open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday through Friday. If child groups are interested in coming out on Saturday or Sunday, they may contact Mr. Barnett Shryock by mail and arrangements to have someone in attendance.

The design of useful objects is a blending of several elements, the principal one to be considered are: Function: What the object does—Material: What it is made of—Technique: How it is made. The appearance of the finished object will be affected by each of these elements, and the designer is employed in perfecting the appearance of the finished object. The appearance of the finished object will be affected by each of these elements, and the designer is employed in perfecting the appearance of the finished object.

Among the objects in the first group, FUNCTION, are such things as a hand saw, a hammer, knives, shears and a selection of other tools which are considered useful in its present form for a long period of time. The particular shape and material of objects in this function group depend on their particular use. For instance, the ordinary saws consist of a long, straight blade with a handle which is designed to be held with one hand. The shape of the blade is determined by the need for cutting wood, and the handle is designed to be held with one hand.

The "Tender"—for grinding and slicing vegetables, the Grater and its several parts are designed for one definite purpose, the grating of a particular kind of action. On three well-braced legs it is kept from tipping by its rubber suction feet. It may be turned directly to a table and it is rotated by a simply designed wooden handle. The tender is made of a material which is resistant to the question of rigidity or flexibility, rough or smooth surfaces and textures are considered. THIRD COOP CONCERT, MAR. 1, PRESENTS PATRICIA TRAVERS

Patricia Travers, lovely young violin virtuosa, will appear at Shryock Auditorium on Wednesday, March 1, at 8 o'clock p. m. Miss Travers, the youthful American violinist, has been hailed as one of the finest instrumentalists of her generation. She is sixteen. Already a veteran of the concert stage, she has the ten years of success behind her. New Jersey-born, she is the first professional musician in her family.

Beginning the study of the violin when she was four years old, Patricia Travers studied for three years with Jacques Gordon of the Gordon String Quartet, and then with Hans Letz of the Julliard School of Music in New York.

Post-Graduate Activities
Presenting her official debut on the Third Sunday Evening Hour, Patricia had played annual concert at Music-Motion Connection. Since then, she has appeared with the Southern Illinois Orchestra. Her radio debut was at the same time her formal concert debut. She has appeared on the radio with the Southern Illinois Orchestra. Her radio debut was at the same time her formal concert debut.

The new Oxford book, which was started about two years ago when the three teachers were asked by the publishing company to write it, is being widely accepted as the leading professional text in the field of English. RED CROSS DRIVE IS OFFICIALLY OPENED THIS WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

The American Red Cross Drive which began here at Southern February 21, is well under way. Pi Kappa Sigma was the first of the organized groups to contribute their quota of $80. Other pledges are coming in every day, and solicitors are approaching students, not in organized groups, this week and next to solicit personal contributions. Remember to have your dollar in hand when a solicitor knocks at your door and wear the tag given you when you contribute your dollar. Let it be known that you are supporting the Red Cross.
